Eatables!

We want your grocery trade and in order to get it we are going to make it so convenient and easy for you that it will be to your interest to give us your trade.

We try to handle everything in the grocery line, but in case we fail to have it, we will get it for you, if it is in town; if not we will order it for you.

We have added coal oil to our stock, so you can get your oil here.

STAPLES, such as Meat, Lard, Sugar, Coffee, Flour and Meal, we sell as cheap as anybody. Some of our FANCY GROCERIES we may sell a little higher because we get the very best we can buy, which could not sell as cheap as the poor quality.

Give us your trade; we will put the quality of goods to you that we can stand behind.

We will deliver your order.

Very truly,

W. F. Bandy.

FUNERAL OF J. N. PENDLETON.

Held in the Christian Church Wednesday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late J. N. Pendleton, a former resident of Crossville and of this county, was held last Wednesday afternoon from the Christian church in the presence of a large gathering of his old friends and relatives. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. B. Spiers, of Richmond, Va., a minister of the Church of the New Jerusalem, of which Mr. Pendleton was a member. By an unusual coincidence, Mr. Spiers happened to be in Crossville on the day of the funeral.

A large number followed the body to the cemetery, where friends strewed the grave with flowers. The final service at the grave was read by J. W. Dorton, Mr. Spiers having to leave to fill an appointment at Pomona.

Mr. Pendleton, who had lived in Cumberland county for more than forty years, removed to Memphis eight years ago to spend his declining years with his daughter, Mrs. Arthur J. Forbes.

It was at her home that he died on Monday night, July 12. His death was due solely to old age, he being in his 87th year.

He was born in Connecticut in 1829. He went west when a young man settling in Minnesota and came to Cumberland county about 1867 with his two brothers-in-law, Charles Andrews and the late Burton S. Andrews and a number of others settlers from the north.

He served as a justice of the peace for nearly 25 years, and was chairman of the court for about 10 years. Mrs. Pendleton died in 1900. The children surviving him are Mrs. Arthur J. Forbes, of Memphis, Mrs. Edwin B. Taylor, of Chicago, and Miss Naomi and Jessie Pendleton, of Chicago.

Mr. Forbes, who was also a resident of Crossville for many years, accompanied the body from Memphis, where he is city editor for the Commercial Appeal.
